ATTENDED ANNUAL
THE DAY PROGRAM AT PURDUE, FRIDAY

Putnam county farmers were the many hundred who at-annual Swine Day program the university, Friday.

Principal feature of the program was the discussion by C. M. and others of the results of experiments conducted upon 400 Duro-Jersey hogs, in an effort to compare the complex or mixed breeding.

ing the morning the visitors in-the hogs at the farm and the program was staged in stock judging pavilion on the campus.

Professor Vestal's discussion of the experimental results, Wiley, also of the University, husbandry staff, spoke of carcass studies of tonnage.

"Lack of finish is the greatest coming of our Indiana markets, especially those sold under 225 pounds," he said. "The bulk of our medium type hogs filled for maximum grains to market without becoming fat, even when sold at 250 or more."

Discussing the outlook for hog production, Dr. E. C. Young, Purdue agricultural economist, said:
"The important single factor in the outlook for corn and the general price level. The reasonable expectation is for an additional rise in the general level. It appears certain farmers look forward to violent fluctuations in the price of both corn and

Circuit Court Convenes Monday

DOCKET PRESENTS ABOUT SAME NUMBER OF CASES AS IN PREVIOUS YEARS

The docket for the September term of Circuit Court, which convenes Monday, presents about the same number of cases in the criminal, probate and civil sections as have been on the dockets of recent terms. The criminal division presents no case of outstanding interest from the public viewpoint, but each of them is of vital interest to the defendants named.
There are upwards of a dozen cases against escaped prisoners from the Indiana State Penal Farm, who have not been apprehended, and other criminal cases include quite a variety of charges. Among these are several for issuing fraudulent checks, for failure to provide, some charges growing out of liquor law violations, and embezzlement.

Some 150 estates in the county remain unsettled, and these all have entries on the docket. There are more than a hundred guardianships in effect in the county, also, in which steps of some sort are taken for action which appear on the docket for consideration of some sort by the court.

The greater part of the docket is devoted, as usual, to civil suits, involving many kinds of actions. Some of these have been on the docket many years, final action being deferred for various reasons.

Monday, not much will be done in court except the calling of the docket, and the setting of dates for hearings, in the various cases. The attorneys are expected to be present, and co-operate with the court in getting the litigation started at the earliest dates possible.

Football Contest Editor "Swamped"

"PICK-TH-WINNERS" RECEIVES BIGGER PLAY THIS YEAR;
MANY ENTER

It appeared today that the Football Contest editor of the Daily Banner would be "snowed under" for the next few days in checking entries in the first "Pick-the-Winners" competition of the 1938 season.

A steady flow of contest blanks poured into The Banner during the week, with an avalanche of returns flooding the Football Contest editor's desk on the final day for submitting predictions in the opening contest.

Last season, when the novel entertainment was introduced to Greencastle through the Banner, scores of men, women and children participated in each weekly contest during the football season. This year it appears that the majority of the "first rounders" have renewed interest in the novel contest and at the same time scores of new enthusiasts have enrolled in the art of "picking-the-Winners."

Winners in the contest will be announced early next week, and the person having made the best prediction of this week's major football games will receive five dollars in cash; second, three dollars; and third, two dollars.

If you failed to enter this week's contest be sure to join the "Pick-the-Winners" followers next week. There is no entry fee and you don't have to buy a thing to enter. To secure official entry blanks call in person on any of the twenty local merchants cooperating with The Banner. A list of the merchants participating will be found in Tuesday's Banner, while the entry blanks for next week's contest will be available Monday.

ALBERT O'HAIR IS CHEERFUL IN BACHELOR ROLE

RESIDENT OF NORTH OF TOWN, ONE OF COUNTY'S HAP-PIEST BACHELORS.

PRIVATE LANE GOES TO HOME

Mr. O'Hair Doesn't Admit the Need of Help from Anyone in Maintaining Home

Albert O'Hair, who lives in a house that is a quarter of a mile or so west of Neeley O'Hair's farm house on state road 43, north of Greencastle, is one of the most cheerful of Putnam county's "old" bachelors. Living alone, as he does, and doing all of the housework he thinks necessary in his rather large home, without help, he might be the object of sympathy from persons who do not know him well. But Mr. O'Hair doesn't admit the need of help from anyone.

His home is reached by a private lane from the state road, and is surrounded by woods pasture land. The building is of two stories, rather severe in its lines, showing evidence that its builders felt cramped for ground space, because they certainly used as little of the surface of the earth as possible, in planning the house. But it extends vertically quite a distance, suggesting a steep stairway in its interior, with possibly a sharp turn or two, involving the use of three-cornered steps on the turns, of the sort that which require the user of the stairway to walk with exceeding care, on those curves.

Mr. O'Hair's father, W. Asbury O'Hair, came from Kentucky when but three years old, carried in his mother's and his father's arms, as they rode horseback. W. Asbury O'Hair was born in Kentucky in 1826.
He was the son of James E. M.
O'Hair, who himself became a Putnam county pioneer.

Incidentally, there is another James E. M. O'Hair now living. He is the young son of Fred L. O'Hair, a direct descendant of the old gentleman of the same name who was the patriarchal head of the O'Hair family in this county.

The old O'Hair homestead cabin was located where Oscar O'Hair's home now stands. The present brick house on that site was built much later, of course.

All but one of James E. H.
O'Hair's children were born in that old log cabin. That one exception was his first child, the Asbury mentioned above, born in Kentucky. The others—natives of Putnam county—were Greenberry, Elsberry, John, Simpson, Bascom, Sylvester, Robert L., (father of Fred L.), Sallite (Mrs.
Henry Hillis), Salina (James A. Curtis' second wife, Margaret (Mrs. Asa Black), and Eliza Jane (Mr. Curtis' first wife).

Albert O'Hair's father and mother —Mr. and Mrs. W. Asbury O'Hair (the latter having been Margaret Ann Fulton before her marriage)— went to housekeeping in a log cabin and erected the house in which their son Albert now lives in the year 1856. Albert is the only one of his parents' children now living.

Albert lives near the center of population, as far as the O'Hairs are concerned. There was a time when every house except six on state road 43 between the former Bob Allen farm three miles north of Greencas-tle, and state road 36, six miles north of the Allen farm, was the home of an O'Hair family.

It is tradition—and quite believe-able—that in the days when Nate Hollingsworth was carrier on the old rural route 1 out of Greencastle, and he took a vacation, his substitute on the route became hysterical in his effort to determine in which boxes to put the mail for the 13 O'Hair families, and dumped all of their mail in one box, leaving the sorting of it to some one else.

Fred L. O'Hair repeats the tradition which came down to him, that when the patriarchal head of the family, in the old days, noticed that one of his rather numerous sons was becoming restless and dissatisfied around the home place, the head of the clan would disappear from home a few days, and, upon his return, would call to him that dissatisfied son and would remark to him to this effect:

"Bob (or whatever the son's name was), I have bought a farm up the road for you. It cost me $3,000 (or whatever the amount was). You give me your note for that amount, take what stock you have here, and move on your place. Pay me what you owe me when it is due."

Which was the end of the matter.

NATIONAL HARDWOOD LUMBER ASSOCIATION PAID TRIBUTE TO LOCAL MAN

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The proceedings of the National Hardwood Lumber Association 41st annual convention at the Congress Hotel were halted abruptly and surprisingly for a few minutes this afternoon while Acting President Joseph J. Linehan of Cincinnati stepped down from the rostrum in the Gold Room to pay personal tribute to a tall and stalwart son of Indiana, Charles H.
Barnaby, of Greencastle. Today is Mr. Barnaby's birthday. Mr. Linehan explained, and the Hoosier lumberman also has the honor of having been in at the birth of National Hardwood Lumber Association 42 years ago. Today it is undoubtedly the strongest association in the lumber industry.

But Mr. Barnaby in his brief response recalled that forty-two years ago it consisted of only about 35 men who gathered at a restaurant on Adams street to try to do something about the chaos in the lumber industry. "In those days," Barnaby said, "if you were shipping lumber to a man in New York you didn't look him up to find out whether he was good pay. Instead you asked whether he was fair on grades. There were only three grades—good, common and cull—and no standard of those, so if the buyer wanted to call a shipment "common" when it was shipped as "good," he could get away with it." However, the men in the restaurant set to work on the industry, to standardize the grades, and they have succeeded so well that the organization completing its convention today is the recognized authority on hardwood grades throughout the world. They are standard for buyer and seller, and the set of rules is credited with greatly improving the hardwood product, preventing much waste in America's trees, and reducing the cost of hardwood products to consumers. The art of politics is only a side-line with this association—grades are the main thing. It is the only organization of that kind in the lumber industry.

other church dignitaries are expected and it was estimated from reservations that 10,000 persons would attend the conference.

The Pennsylvania's taxes are distributed as follows: Marion township, $6,918; Greencastle township, $8,172;
Greencastle city, $1,725; Washington

PATROL PLANES DROWN OUT SPEAKERS AT LEAGUE

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—The roar of Swiss military planes patrolling the frontier near the Palace of Nations today forced delegates of the League of Nations disarmament committee to raise their voices to be heard.
The Swiss Army squadron shuttled back and forth, frequently passing almost directly over the building. Army officers said the planes were part of a "precautionary" patrol established along all Swiss frontiers.

$75,250 Received From Railroads

PROPERTY TAXES TO BE DISTRI-BUTED AMONG TOWNSHIPS AND TOWNS TRAVERSED

Steam railroads will pay approximately $75,250 this year in property taxes in Putnam county, according to figures announced by the Associated Railways of Indiana, representing Class I railroads operating in the state. These figures are verified by an examination of the tax duplicates of the county.

The railroads' tax contributions to the county, the association said, will amount to 17.2 per cent of all property and poll taxes levied in the county and to 19 per cent of the taxes levied in the 11 townships, four towns and one city traversed by the railroads.

The four steam roads traversing Putnam county are the Monon, Big Four, Pennsylvania and the C. I. & W. A study of the Putnam county tax duplicates reveals that the Mon-on's taxes this year in the county total approximately $14,200; the Big Four's, $28,000; the Pennsylvania's, $28,300; and the C. I. & W.'s, $4,873.
The Monon's taxes are distributed among the townships and towns traversed by it approximately as follows: Franklin township, $2,000; Roachdale town, $402; Monroe township, $3,063; Bainbridge town, $133; Greencastle township, $2,852; Greencastle city, $459; Warren township, $2,700; Cloverdale township, $2,298; Cloverdale town, $280.

The Big Four's taxes are distributed approximately as follows: Floyd township, $2,925; Marion township, $5,488; Greencastle township, $9,902; Greencastle city, $142; Madison township, $9,505.

The Pennsylvania's taxes are distributed as follows: Marion township, $6,918; Greencastle township, $8,172;
Greencastle city, $1,725; Washington

U. S. Nationals Told To Depart

STATE DEPT. WARNS AMERI-CANS IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA TO PLAN TO LEAVE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (UP)— United States Minister Wilbur J.
Carr at Prague has advised Americans in Czechoslovakia to be prepared to leave at once, the State Department announced today.

A cable to this effect was received coincident with news that Czechoslovakia had issued a mobilization order.
Carr began advising the Americans, 5,000 of whom are in Czech territory, as early as yesterday, officials said.
He notified them that conditions were such that it might soon be impossible for them to leave.

Announcement of Carr's warning was the first break in official silence on the Czech-German impasse. The State Department said that Carr emphasized to the Americans the risks they would run if Germany invaded Czechoslovakia.

On Jan. 1 the department listed 5-109 nationalists within Czechoslovakian boundaries. Latest information is that most of them are still there, although wives and children of many American emissaries have departed.
The department's figures do not include tourists. It is not known how many may be in the little country, but it is assumed that there are not many, since the normal vacation season is over.

He is in Indianapolis today en route

FRANCE IS READY FOR MOBILIZING

TRAINED ARMY RESERVISTS HURRY TO CONCENTRATION POINTS

Chance to Avoid Conflict Not "Hopeless" Says British Prime Minister

BULLETIN

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—As Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain arrived today from Germany, it became known that the British High Command has prepared plans for instant mobilization of all armed forces by land, sea and air if the need arises.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 24.—(UP)— The government ordered a general mobilization of all its war forces today.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Against the backdrop of an intensifying crisis, France took extraordinary military measures today, ordering partial mobilization of her army, naval and air force reserves.

First, the war ministry issued orders that sent 700,000 to 900,000 trained army reservists hurrying to concentration points in every part of the country, to join France's standing army of a half million men.

This was followed by an order from the naval ministry decreeing a partial naval mobilization.

No sooner was this issued, than the air ministry, the third branch of the military service, issued its mobilization decree.

The army mobilization order was issued in the early hours of the morning after General Marie Gutave Gamelin, chief of staff, had conferred with Premier and War Minister Edouard Daladier.

At 10 a. m. Daladier issued a communique saying that there was no question of a general mobilization involved, that "evolution of the international situation" had made the partial mobilization necessary.

His communique made no mention of the naval and air force mobilization orders which followed almost immediately.

It was noteworthy that all mobilization orders called out anti-aircraft defense specialists—the men on whom Paris and France's other cities rely to defend them from raiding aerial bombers.

At 11 a. m. General Gamelin was again in conference with Daladier.

PADUA, Italy, Sept. 24 (UP)— Premier Benito Mussolini said in a speech today that the Czechoslovakia government had until October 1—One week—to answer Adolf Hitler's proposals.

"Germany has forwarded proposals to Prague to which Prague has until October 1 to reply," said Mussolini, addressing 300,000 massed Fascists.

"The Prague government has six days to find the way to wisdom.
It might be possible to localize a German-Czechoslovak war, Mussolini continued. Then he added:

"However, some parties in other governments think it is time to settle accounts with the totalitarian states." He deplored that "millions may be killed to support the Lordship of Benes."

Of a possibility of a fight against the totalitarian states Mussolini said:
"In this case these parties would find themselves not before two nations but one nation forming one block."

He insisted that the Czechoslovakia minority problem must be solved "integrally and definitely."

PARIS, Sept. 24.—(UP)—France mobilized part of her five and a half million trained reserves today prepared to fight a war on an instant's notice.

In all parts of the country, clerks, laborers, business men put aside their civil pursuits, kissed their weeping wives, and hurried to mobilization centers, responding to urgent orders from the ministry of defense mobilizing specialist and soldiers of certain categories. The order was signed by Premier and War minister Edouard Daladier at 4 a. m. today and only his signature was needed to put all of the five and a half million men under arms, to back up the standing army of 580,000 men.

It was estimated that the order called 10 classes, between 700,000 and 900,000 men, to the colors.

Only the order from Daladier was needed to call out the rest of the five and a half million and put France on a war footing.

Throughout yesterday and last night, every pre-mobilization measure was put into effect and today the government awaited reports from London, Prague, and Berlin which would determine whether the peace had been saved or the continent was going to be plunged into war.

There was a feeling of optimism in governmental circles that the crisis was passing or was passing, but this did not slow down the preparations to back Daladier's pledge that France would be true to her obligation to defend Czechoslovakia if that country is invaded.

The mobilization orders, one calling up specialists, the other calling soldiers of two categories, were posted by gendarmes in every town and village of France at 4 a. m. and 6 a. m. The posters were printed months ago, were distributed yesterday, and only a telegraphic order from Paris was needed to get them up.

PRAGUE, Sept. 24.—(UP)—This nation was a nation at arms today with approximately 2,000,000 men ready to take the field at any instant. Early today, the government radio station announced that emergency mobilization of every fighting man had been a "brilliant success."

The atmosphere in this war made republic was tense but calm and the morale of the populace seemed high. The government under General Jan Syrový, commander-in-chief of the army, was obviously prepared for any eventuality.

While every means of transportation were crowded with reservists and soldiers on leave en route to mobilization points, reports came of new disturbances on the Czech-German frontier. It was announced that members of the Sudeten German free corps had crossed the border into Asch and had formally proclaimed the union of the region with Germany.

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The government completed all arrangements for immediate mobilization of the Roumanian armed forces today.

Posters announcing mobilization were distributed to local authorities throughout the kingdom to be put up on a moment's notice.

A decree permitting the mobilization of women was published a week ago and it was understood that women were receiving orders concerning their war-time jobs.

GODESBERG, Germany, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, carrying with him the hope of all Europe, returned to London today to make what it seemed must be the final effort to avert a war.

The British leader left his hotel on Peter's hill, at Koenigswinter across the Rhine from Godesberg where he had conferred with Adolf Hitler, at 9:43 a. m. (4:43 a. m. EDT) to take an airplane at Cologne, 20 miles down river to London.

At 9:30 a. m. Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister; Herbert von Dirksen, German Ambassador to London, and Baron Ernst Welzsaecker, secretary of state of the German Foreign office, arrived at the hotel and waited to escort the prime minister to Cologne.

Only a handful of people, including children, "heeled" and gave the Nazi salute as Chamberlain's automobile left for Cologne airport for the 275 mile flight to London. It was a warm, sunny day.

In his final conference with Hitler which ended early this morning, Chamberlain had agreed to submit a new set of proposals to the Czechoslovakia government, regarding the method of surrendering the Sudeten minority area to Germany.

Without awaiting the approval of his own cabinet, Chamberlain submitted the proposals direct to Prague. I learned—or sent them there.

The fact was that Prague was cut off from nearly all European capitals by telephone.

As Chamberlain left I asked Horace Wilson, chief industrial adviser to the British government and Chamberlain's chief aid here, whether the memorandum had already reached Prague.

"You know, it's difficult to communicate with Prague," he said, "but the memorandum is on its way."

Submission of this memorandum to Czechoslovakia was a concession to Hitler. But there seemed no doubt that Hitler had made definite and important concessions of his own this time, and at least had agreed to take no military action against the Czechs for the moment.

Hope was held that peace might be preserved. But there was ominous anxiety lest it prove a brief reprieve, and that even a few days of peace might be uneasy ones.

Henry Ostrom, who has just returned from an engagement at Saginaw, Mich., leaves today for Toledo, Ohio, where he will fill his sixth consecutive annual engagement in evangelistic meeting, in the same church, the First United Presbyterian. After closing his work at Toledo, he will go to Toronto, Canada, to carry on similar work in the St. John's Evangelical church and the Crusaders' church.

The Carpentersville church property has been purchased by three former residents of that community, the Baker brothers, now residents of Indianapolis, their sister also residing in that city. The church was bought by the Bakers to insure its preservation and its availability for services by the congregation, which has dwindled in number until the members are not longer able to carry the expenses of maintaining the property. The Baker brothers' name is familiar to former travellers over the old section of state road 36, east of Bainbridge, they maintaining a summer "camp" at the Big Walnut bridge east of that town. They now have a place near the bridge at Pine Bluffs, up-stream from the road 36 bridge.

STANLEY YOUNG AWARDED JOHN GOLDEN FELLOWSHIP

Stanley Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Young, was honored recently by being awarded the $1,000 John Golden Fellowship for dramatics.

The award was made at the National Theatre Conference at the Hotel Astor before a luncheon of 1,500 notables in the theatre. The committee which made the award was composed of Sidney Howard, playwright; John Golden, producer; Frank Crowninshield, editor; George Kaufman, playwright; and Burns Mantle, dramatic critic.

There are five awards to be made but Mr. Young's is the only one yet agreed upon by the committee. Out of applications all over the country, Mr. Young was chosen as the young dramatist who on the basis of past work showed the most promise for the future. Mr. Young is the author of "Robin Landing," a verse play produced in New York last winter; "In Praise of Husbands," a satirical farce produced in the Federal Theatre, and "Bright Rebel," produced at the Chapel Playhouse this summer and scheduled for Broadway this fall. Mr. Young has also completed his first novel which Farrar & Rinehart have accepted for January or February publication. The novel is entitled, "Sons Without Anger."

CRAWFORDSVILLE PAPER REPORTS THEFT OF CAR

The Journal-Review of Crawfordsville, Friday says:

Two young bandits who wrecked a stolen automobile near New Ross Thursday night apparently escaped a cordon of state and local officers who searched throughout the night for them.

The automobile, stolen from Greencastle late Thursday afternoon, was used by the pair in holding up three filling stations, the last of them—at Jamestown—only a few minutes before they wrecked the machine, left the road and overturned on a country road two and a half miles north of New Ross.

The wrecked car, the property of Virgil Deem, of Greencastle, was towed into a local garage.

First reports of the car were received by Deputy Sheriff Harold Roth shortly after 9 p. m. Thursday when a farmer near the scene of the accident reported that he had heard the crash near his house.

Going to the scene, Deputy Roth found that there was no one in the machine and that, apparently, no one had seen the occupants after the crash.

He then called police headquarters where it was determined the machine had been stolen at Greencastle. Radio reports also indicated the car had been used in three holdups, the one at Jamestown, another at Peckville, in Hendricks county, and a third in the north part of Morgan county.

As soon as word was put on the state police radio that the car had been found, state police units investigating the auto theft and the subsequent holdups rushed to the scene and aided Deputy Roth in the search.

Sheriff Merle Remley and Police Capt. Fred Grimes also took part in the hunt.

Roads in the eastern part of Montgomery county and the western part of Boone county were patrolled until after daylight but no trace of the two bandits was found. Additional state police units arrived about daylight to aid in the hunt.

About the middle of the morning, however, a report was received that two men answering the description of the fugitive couple had boarded an eastbound bus at Lizton early Friday morning. It was believed that the two had managed to elude the posse hunting them and had made their way safely to Indianapolis.

BUY BUILD REMODEL REPAIR

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN TO HOME OWNERS FOR PAINTING HOUSES

Home owners planning odd jobs around the house may save time, labor, and materials by observing a few simple

The first thing to be done after painting a room or some exterior woodwork is to wash the surface to be covered with the color desired. Then, getting the paint in the quantity recommended by the dealer, the work should be prepared.

It is an interior job and the work is new, the surface should be smooth with sandpaper and clean. Then the priming coat should be applied. If it is old wood, it shows bad cracking, scaling, or peeling, the surface should be stripped with a good paint remover and cleaned with benzine or turpentine. If the surface is greasy or coated with wax, this should be scrubbed off with benzine or turpentine.

The next step is to putty up all nail holes, cracks, and other defects. This is done after the priming coat has dried. Then a semi-finishing or second coat of paint is applied and allowed to dry thoroughly before the third or finishing coat is applied. If a gloss finish is wanted, the finishing coat is enamel. When the color is to be other than white, both finishing coats are tinted.

Generally speaking, paint jobs undertaken by the home owner himself are not extensive enough to necessitate the use of credit, but in exceptional cases where the owner decides to repaint the house inside and out, credit may be obtained from private lending institutions qualified by the Federal Housing Administration to make loans under its Property Improvement Credit Plan.

Eligible Repairs For Farms Listed

SUGGESTIONS GIVEN BY FHA FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO PROPERTIES

A suggested list of farm improvements, repairs, remodeling, new buildings, farm structures, and other items which are eligible under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration is now available.

Under the Property Improvement Credit Plan, funds for repairs, alterations, and improvements to farm homes and properties may be borrowed for periods of three to five years from private financial institutions qualified by the Federal Housing Administration to make such loans. Loans up to $2,500 may be borrowed in the same manner for the construction of entirely new farm buildings, with a maximum of seven years allowed for repayment.

The list of repairs, alterations, and improvements, together with new structures, which may be built on farms under FHA's Property Improvement Credit Plan follows:

Paint: House, inside and outside; barn; service buildings; other structures.

Carpentry work: Floors, roofing, siding, steps, doors, storm doors, new screens, windows, weatherstripping shutters, fences, platforms, insulation, partitions.

Plumbing: Flashing, drains, pipes, sewage disposal, kitchen sink, modern bathroom.

Water supply: Windmill, power plant, cistern, hot-water heater, well, pumps.

Heating system: Modern central heating plant.

Electrical system: Farm power plant, wiring, lighting fixtures and outlets, extension from main line.

Masonry: Foundations, walks, drives, steps, barn floors, troughs, stalls, chimney, fireplace, basement.

More home comfort and beauty: Built-in kitchen cabinets, sun porch, additional rooms, closets, plastering, papering, painting, landscaping, restyling (interior and exterior).

New buildings: House, barn, dairy barn, poultry house, stock sheds, machine shed, garage, silos, granaries, corrals, storage sheds, tenant house, farm office, roadside stand, tourist cabins.

BETTER QUALITY OF SMALL HOMES NOW AVAILABLE

Improvement in the quality of small houses is one of the most important advances made in the movement for better housing in recent years, according to officials of the Federal Housing Administration.

The purchaser of today looks for, and insists upon, a complete dwelling unit, well constructed of good materials in accordance with a well-conceived plan.

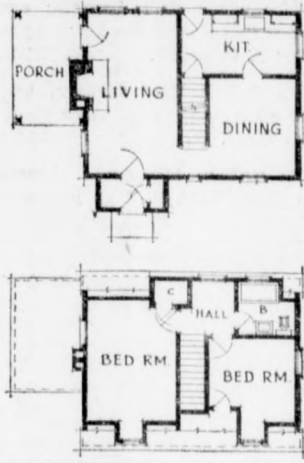

The influence exerted by the Federal Housing Administration in bringing about the improvement in the quality of modern small homes has been by means of its minimum standards of construction which small houses must meet in order to qualify for an insured mortgage.

Enhanced by Setting

This attractive conventional home was financed with the aid of a $3,000 mortgage insured by the FHA. The loan was for a term of 19 years and 6 months, with payments to principal and interest amounting to $20.10 a month.

The dwelling is simply and efficiently planned. The placement of the entrance is a departure from the usual and permits daylight illumination of the stairway. The living room boasts of a large ornamental fireplace.

Questions - Answers

Q. I have had trouble with the linoleum sticking up at the point where it meets the doorway of the kitchen. I am going to put down new linoleum and want to know what can be done to eliminate the nuisance. Can you tell me?

A. Use a brass strip. They are made for this purpose and can be obtained from the dealer who sells the floor covering.

Q. I have a new house with a slate roof. Some of the slates have already come loose and fallen off. What causes this, and what can I do about it?

A. It is possible for a few slates to come loose during the first year after completion of a house, particularly if the slate used is a thin grade. The shrinkage of the wood frame and deck of the roof sometimes cracks the slates at the nail holes and they slip off of place. It also might be that the roofer nailed the slates down too tight or accidentally cracked them while driving the nails home. You should have a roofer replace the slates.

Q. What is the best kind of paint to use in painting a concrete floor?

A. Special paint designed for use on concrete. Other paints are very liable to peel, scale, or discolor as the moisture or the salts in the concrete react on the paint.

Q. Some of my radiators leak near the handles used to turn them on and off. How can I fix them?

A. This is a job for a steam-fitter. It is probable that the valves need repacking.

Q. The nails used in my porch steps continually pull loose. What can be done about this?

A. It would seem that the wood was rotten. If so, it will have to be replaced. It may be that the steps are warped and this causes the nails to pull out. Try brass screws, and if the trouble persists have the steps removed and replaced.

Q. What causes paint on the outside of a wood house to peel and blister?

A. Dampness is the usual cause. It may get into the outside wood covering either through cracks in the outside or from dampness from inside walls. The wood also might have been damp at the time it was first painted. You should remove the paint, find the cause of dampness (if other than surface dampness from weather at time of painting), stop the source of dampness, and repaint.

Q. What is the best location for a light switch in a living room?

A. There should be a switch near the entrance door to the living room if it is at some distance from the hall doorway, to permit lighting the room without having to cross or pass through the room first. A three-way switch at the entrance door and at the hall door permits switching light on or off at either place without retracing steps.

Q. The baseboard in some of our rooms has pulled away from the floor and shows a big crack; can you suggest a remedy?

A. If there is no molding at the junction of the baseboard and the floor, have one installed, and be sure that it is nailed through to the under flooring. If there is such molding already, have it taken off and properly installed.

BUILT-IN EQUIPMENT HELPS HOME COMFORT AND EFFICIENCY

A person who builds a home today, especially a small one, can often add materially to the comfort of the family and efficiency of the dwelling by the judicious selection of built-in equipment.

A useful but not costly feature of this type is a package receiver. This contrivance is installed in the wall of the kitchen. It has a self-closing door that opens outside and is in-that the work can be done without exposing the interior of the building to the weather, the old roofing provides additional insulation, and the labor incident to removal is avoided.

Before selecting the new covering, however the roof framing should be examined to determine whether it has sufficient strength to carry the additional weight. Slate, clay tile, and asbestos shingles are heavy and when they are used, the rafters may require bracing.

There is an advantage in not removing old roll roofing and composition shingles, especially when re-roofing with rigid shingles or metal, provided the old covering is not "puffy" or badly wrinkled.

In preparing an old wood shingle surface to receive a new covering, all curled, badly warped, and loose shingles should be nailed flat and secure and all protruding nails should be driven down.

ulated and ventilated. It is usually placed beside the rear entry for the convenience of tradesmen.

Another helpful built-in feature, particularly for homes with basement laundries and second-floor sleeping quarters, is a laundry chute. These are installed in the walls and have vertical shafts that permit soiled clothes and linen to be dropped directly to the laundry. The shafts are free from projecting edges that might catch or tear clothes. A third built-in feature that is useful in almost any home is an incinerator.

The architect or builder can give the home builder an idea of the cost and appropriateness of such installations. In existing homes they may be installed with funds obtained from institutions qualified by the Federal Housing Administration to make loans insured under its Property Improvement Credit Plan.
